Only my best is good enough for me

Dear parents and carers,

This year World Autism Acceptance Week is from the 2nd April to 8th April. As this is during our Easter holidays, we are going to be having a 'Be Unique week' next week starting on Monday 25th March. World Autism Acceptance Week aims to increase awareness and acceptance of Autism and celebrate neurodiversity. We have planned lots of fun activities for pupils to take part in next week.

Monday:

We are starting 'Be Unique week' with a colour run/walk. Pupils will need to bring old clothes or may choose to wear their PE kits, which they do not mind being covered in powder paint. White t-shirts are the most effective for this activity.

Tuesday and Wednesday:

Each class will have a slot in the sports hall for UV sports. Every class will be participating in the 'Be Unique Week' art exhibition where their own work will be displayed in the hall.

Thursday:

Non-uniform colour day. Each year group has been given a colour to wear for our aerial photograph. Please do not feel like you need to buy something new, if you do not have anything in the year group colour then any bright colour will do.

Year Group	Colour
EYFS	Purple
Year 1	Dark blue
Year 2	Light blue
Year 3	Green
Year 4	Yellow
Year 5	Orange
Year 6	Red
The Nest	Pink

We are asking for a donation of £1 which is payable either on Scopay or by cash any day next week to ensure that we can run all of the activities and celebrate our inclusive and diverse, school community.

Thank you for your ongoing support; we look forward to a fun week!
Yours sincerely,

Barden Primary School
